SPECIAL GOOD NEWS ANNOUNCEMENT Club Redevelopment Update

You're probably all thinking, how long is it until we can actually see some work done on our club. Well, the good news is, the "i's" have been dotted, and we have just about crossed all the "t's".

Since the last update, we've managed to lock down the a price with the successful tenderer, Partek. Included in this price is all the goodies we'd asked for, plus more. At this point, we look like we can afford air conditioning, something that isn't so necessary for the summer, but definitely required for the winter. You want to know the good news?? Even with air conditioning, we're in line with our original estimates, so we can afford it!!!

I must commend Brett for organising the storage of the majority of the club's contents. I'd also like to say a big thanks to Garth for allowing us to use his commercial shed in the Port to store a boat and the senior gear trailer. Everyone else has done a great job taking what they can, so make sure the stuff you have is in a good place as we'll need it back soon!!!

Furthermore, the management committee has managed to save enough money to fit out the new club rooms with new equipment, including chairs and tables, TVs, and other nice things. This is a product of all YOUR hard work over the last few years, so you should all finally see some tangible rewards for the effort put in. We're in the process of applying for several grants from all levels of government to supplement our savings and buy more good things.

The Port Adelaide Enfield Council have been nothing short of fantastic throughout this process. They have supported us at all times and very recently approved their share of the final tender price. The state government have approved in principle and will have signed off on the final sum by the time you read this. The final cog is to reapply to the Trustees for the funds they have in principle approved. This will also have been done by the time you read this.

You should see activity on site in early June. When it will all be done is too early to call, but we will have some "working around" to do at the start of the season as the club won't be ready by then.
